

Volunteer for Case Study Participation

We invite you to present yourself as case study volunteer. In the interest of benefiting the strength and efficacy of natural health sciences we do so with the greatest respect and consideration to you

We feel that your case may be one that we can all learn from. If you may be interested, this form represents your authorization and commitment to proceed.

Privacy

Your privacy will be maintained and not provided to third parties without your written consent.

Documentation

Any documentation of health records that you could provide us will be kept along with what the centre builds going forward. Furthermore, you will also be required to keep a journal during your progress. All documentation will be used to create a complete report of your trial.

Report

The report may take a variety of forms and may be presented in a variety of mediums, such as published medical articles, television report, inclusions in book(s), etc. If at such time that publishing your name will be advantageous, we will at that time ask for your consent. You reserve this right at all times.

Commitment

Participation in this study can only lead to a greater knowledge. Ayurveda & Indian systems of healing are profound sciences of life. However, our knowledge of it today is imperfect. For it to be resurrected to its full height, we will all need to share in our successes. Your contribution can be of significant value.

If you should choose to take part in this study, your commitment cannot be understated. You will be informed of what you will be undertaking, such as treatments and recommended lifestyle changes. We ask that you commit yourself to the best of your ability. It may not be easy for success, but we will need to know if you are doing your part. Remember, most of the healing comes from you, as you hold the key of your success. We will guide you, teach you, and support you along the way. We wish you the best of luck.

Authorization

Please sign below to express your commitment to participate in our Case Study Program. The attached Process Schedule is part of this agreement. It is the treatment and lifestyle plan that you will undergo. It will inform you of the parameters of our collective commitment so that you will be fully educated to make the best decision.

I, _____, agree to participate in a case study with The Centre for Ayurveda & Indian Systems of Healing and follow to the best of my ability the recommendations herein and those that will follow.
